...Hailey and Mr. Fornwalt we're so worried for their friends and students, but then it hit Hailey. They had to distract the ghost and trick him into saving their friends for them. Everyone knows that ghosts love flattery. "Hey Mr. Ricasso what's up?" Hailey said while shaking violently. "Yeah, hey I heard someone over by Town Hall started a riot that your artwork was stupid," Mr. Fornwalt said. Hailey was so afraid of what would happen, she thought to herself: "WHY COULDN'T MR. FORNWALT JUST STICK TO THE PLAN?" Rablo started boiling-up until his face was so red that it looked he was actually in pain. It was as if his face was a tomato ready to explode. But then;..... "People don't have to like my artwork, it's not for everyone." He said so calmly it was unbelievably shocking. Mr. Fornwalt let out a sigh that was a little too loud for my taste.

Okay I just realized something: I haven't even introduced myself yet to you guys! I am the writer; Luke. So just so you know; this bickering kept going back and forth between Hailey, Mr. Fornwalt, and Mr. Ricasso. And it kept going, until.....

Hailey and Mr. Fornwalt made a very unwise decision; they took the "artwork of their friends" and bolted. And then as soon as they got back to school they realized that they didn't know how to get it out! (The dummies.) So they went out for milkshakes and everyone lived happily ever after. EXCEPT FOR MIKE, GEHRIG, JONA, and MARY! :)

Island Terror

You ask your mom to pass the ginger ale to you and she hands you the bottle. You turn back out your open window looking over the vast blue sea. The airplane pilot says over the loudspeaker says that we will be landing soon. While he says that you see a island come into sight. Skip ahead 3 minutes, the island is much closer. Than, out of nowhere, the engine stalls and we are soon flying down in a crash landing for the island. My parents, younger sister, and I run to the back of the plane and find 3 parachutes. We decide that my mom will hold onto my sister as tightly as possible on the last one. Sort of like one of those parachuting tricks you see on TV. I end up being the second to last family member to jump.

Just before I jump I turn back and see the pilot bang his head on a falling suitcase and go unconscious. I jump and my dad follows. I can see both of my parents land safely (And my sister). Right before I land. We managed to grab our suitcases because they are small. We all stare in fright as we see the plane we were on seconds ago plummet into the deep abyss of the sea. I look around and realize this was not the beautiful island I had seen from the plane. This island is completely overgrown with a type of plant that I don't want to touch at all. A monochrome plant. A plant capable of making a person instantly have color blindness.

and then go bezerk. I tell my sister to stay away from that plant. Me and my dad scout out a place for us to setup camp while my mom and sister stay at the beach. My dad finds a safe path clear of the deadly plants, we walk down a trail and find a village, overgrown with the sweet smell of ashes and stress covering the houses. Wrapping them up in darkness and fear. □□□ □□□ is the runes that are carved into many loose boards from the many ruins of houses in the town. Lucky, you took a class all about runes and so you know the names and meaning of all of them. The first one is the rune "Jera" Which means that the village was a nice calm place of happiness. The next one is "Perthro" means that they could feel a dark force somewhere on the island. The third one is called "Algiz" Which means that the village was once protected. The fourth rune is "Uruz" which means that It had great speed and strength. The next rune is called "Thurisaz", which means a directed force of destruction and defence. The last rune is called "Gebo" Which made your heart sink, Gebo, means a great sacrifice.

You immediately tell your dad and he replied "Wow, What crazy kind of people lived here", You both stood in silence for a few seconds. At least you are physically silent, your brain is repeating the names of the runes, over and over. Jera, Pethro, Algiz, Uruz, Thurisaz, Gebo, .....Jera, Pethro, Algiz, Uruz, Thurisaz, Gebo. Just thinking about what they mean together. Then I figured it out.

There was something evil on the island. And it wanted me to leave. My dad said that we were not going to leave because we can. He found a dirt path that led straight into the dark forest. While we are walking down the path, we start to hear faint breathing getting louder and louder, Not human breaths. Something else. The breathing is soon joined with the sound of a loud humming, Almost bursting through your head. The breathing is soon followed with some rustling in the bushes and then it appears. Covered with vines, standing like a human,, those large red insect eyes, staring at you so intently, Half a gas mask pulled over his face. A disgusting forked red tongue hanging out of its stitched mouth, and worst of all his long bony arms with long sharp fingernails at the end of each finger. He just stares at you and then screams a high pitched calling scream that makes you drop to the ground and cover your ears. The scream sounds just like the hum that you have been hearing for the last hour of walking through the forest. Your dad punches the creature and it scampers of back into the woods. After that shock you decide to stay more alert. You and your dad are tired of this and your dad pulls out his phone and goes to GPS. Oddly the phone says that you are in the middle of the ocean, and not on an island. Your dad goes to call 911 but a spear from somewhere behind you hits the phone and completely rips it apart, with the sound of glass shattering and the sound of running footsteps getting closer and closer, you and your dad decide to make a run for it, not wanting to see what through the spear. Thankfully you and your dad are in shape so you can outrun the footsteps. You reach daylight and reach a large opening, breathing heavily. We both scream when a man stumbles out and looks at us, Staring at you with a crazy glare. At first he looks angry but then his expression turns to a soft smile. His crazed eyes now look more like wounded and sad pupils, dilating from the bright light. He stumbles over to you and says calmly "Please help me". Your dad tells you to get a coconut and open it up. You do as he says. When you get back, with the coconut you hand it to your dad. He hands it to the man and the man drinks with haste.

Then he wipes his lip and says thank you. Your dad asks him what his name was and why he needs us. He answers "My name is Jim Nightshadow and I am the last survivor of the Ikeen village on the island. I am surprised you didn't see the carvings that I carved to warn you. You say you did but you went on anyway. He replied in his crackled voice "Well you can stay, just watch out for the deadly Mohali. They have been hunting me since the village was destroyed by Thurigul". You ask who Thurigul is and he replied something that makes your blood freeze. He replies "Thuripper is the king of the Mauhali. He has a giant dragon appearance, he destroys everything if you get him mad".

Island Terror-Continued (Part 5)

You start to jabber away about how your plane crashed and your mom and sister are on the beach. He puts a bony finger up to your mouth and says shhh. He says that the Mauhali are here. He pulls you behind a ruin and you and your dad peek out from behind it. You almost scream but then decide to duck behind the ruins when you see a giant human like figure with a mask of a bull's skull, some sort of rune necklace, full armour and holding some sort of hand weapon walks out of the woods and calls his men. 3 more Mohali warriors run out of the forest and the first one shows the others your footprints. They start to follow your footprints getting closer and closer to you. You grab a nearby metal tube and get ready to hit them. Just then you hear the loud sound of a horn and all 4 Mohali warriors turn around and start to walk into the woods. You turn back to ask Jim Nightshadow what the horn was but he was gone. We see his footprints lead off into the woods. You follow the footsteps with your dad to a red stream. Jim was hunched over it lapping up the red liquid. You tap him on the shoulder and he turns to you, drooling the red stuff. Your dad points out a statue on the other side of the river covered in moss that you didn't notice before. You think in your little teen mind that you should jump across the river. So you do. When you get to the other side you turn around and ask Jim what the red stuff was anyway. He replies that it is monochrome algae, but it only makes you colorblind. You turn back around and look up at the statue.

You start to walk towards it. You get close and read a small letter attached to the door that leads inside the statue. You pick up the note and read it. It says simply "Thurigul", as you read it the shadow being cast on you from the statue moves. You hear your dad call to you and you hear Jim Nightshadow laughing his head off. You look up and the statue is towering over you. Breathing... You scream and jump back over the stream. You can hear his huge footsteps booming behind you as you and your dad rush into the forest. Just as I reach the forest, I hear Jim Nightshadow saying to the Thurigul, I brought you some foolish people... As you run through the forest, You say to your dad happily, There's mom and sis! You break through the clearing and you see them sitting on the beach. You tell them the whole story. By the end they both have their jaws hanging loosely. Open in awe. Your dad says that we can camp out here tonight, on the beach. Your dad unpacks four sleeping bags from his suitcase and you all get into your own. You get some firewood and your dad starts a campfire. You lucky brought a small tent and you climb in and go to bed. Half way through the night you awake to a shadow being cast on the tent. It looks like your dad and so you open up the tent to ask him why he was up. When you open the tent, though, There is a strange man that gives you the creeps standing outside your tent. Smiling and waving.

Beyond The Light; Chapter 2 Apollo Simpsons

By: Avery Spagone

It was almost the end of the schools day and I was starting to get very worried about my little meeting with Joan's dad. He works for the C.I.A and Joan told him about my little superpower phenomenon.

I rode on Joan's bus to her house. On the ride there she seemed really excited... and me, really anxious. When we finally got to her house we got off the bus and on to her driveway. I'm not mad at Joan for telling her dad about my power mostly because she's just my best friend. By the time that I step into her house it is almost relief. No more anxiety, no more buildup. I put my backpack down and follow Joan To her dad's office.

I see a lot of weird and wonky police and investigation equipment lying around. The room is poorly lit by the bright lamp sitting on Mr. Amun's desk.

He makes a seating gester so I sit down in the chair on the other side of his desk.

It wasn't as bad as I expected it to be. I was just sitting there while I answered some of his questions, they were like: "Where do you come from?" and other stuff like that. After a while he got up and asked me the question that I feared most: "Hey Apollo, do you want to come to my work with me a on Saturday?" it might be rude if I decline it, I thought. I had to say yes.

Student Council Report: SPRING BREAK BASH

By Jackson Howard and Kenneth Pelphrey

“Look! There's a rhythmic ceremonial ritual coming up!” - Doc Brown (Back to the Future)

At their past meetings, Student Council has been discussing their plans for the Spring Break Bash. I was given special permission to attend these meetings as a newspaper club representative. To begin with, student council was not sure if they would have the Bash at all. The first students to want it had to convince Mr. Hammel that our school should have a bash.

After that was done, they needed to figure out how to schedule it and if it would be both grades at the same time or both at separate times. Having two grades didn't work, so fifth grade got dropped. They finally decided on a theme, Under the Sea, and then organized the food and other necessities. There be a DJ, however, it was not Mr. Chmielewski. There were some other activities besides dancing.

The Peculiar History of Pickles

By: Kenneth Pelfrey

Pickles. You might be wondering, "why is there an article about pickles?" well, Pickles have been a media icon for quite some time. They have even become what we call a meme.

People say they know what Pickles are. They say things, "like blah blah blah marinated cucumber blah blah BLAH" but I'm here to say Pickles are a lot more than just a tasty treat. Pickles are a movement, an icon, a legacy.

Let us begin where it all started, 2400 BC. Yeah, you're hearing me right. archeologist believe that the Mesopotamians started Pickling foods all the way back in 2400 BC. About 1550 years later, Aristotle PRAISED PICKLES FOR THEIR HEALING ABILITIES! Also, Pickled cucumbers (Pickles as us mortals call them) were mentioned not once, but TWICE in the bible. Pickles aren't just delicious. THEY ARE HOLY!

A long time passes and along comes the 15th century. Amerigo Vespucci (who explored the new world) was a Pickle peddler in Spain. He saved many men during the journey to the new world by realizing the nutritional values of Pickles. In short, Pickles saved many men from the wrath of scurvy. Even more exciting, Pickles where a very popular snack in England during the 15th century. Knowing that Queen Elizabeth Loves Pickles, Shakespeare made references to Pickles in his plays. Even going as far as using the word Pickle as a metaphor at times!

Jump a few 100 years and it is the 17th century, were Dutch farmers are planting cucumbers to turn into Pickles all over modern-day Brooklyn. Also, Pickles are being produced commercially and at home in Virginia. 100 years later and Thomas Jefferson says, "On a hot day in Virginia,

The Peculiar History of Pickles

By: Kenneth Pelfrey

I know nothing more comforting than a fine spiced pickle, brought up trout-like from the sparkling depths of the aromatic jar below the stairs of Aunt Sally's cellar." If Thomas Jefferson likes Pickles. You should like them to.

Here's where the more modern things come into play. It's the 20th century 1942 and world war II has begun. Get this, the U.S Government rationed Pickles and accounted for 40% of the country's Pickle Production. not impressed? Well, nearly 65 years later the Philadelphia Eagles had just beaten the Dallas Cowboys in the Superbowl. Many of the Eagles players said that it was DRINKING PICKLE JUICE that mostly helped them win. DRINKING PICKLE JUICE!

Finally, we're here, the 21st century. in 2001, 4,400 years after the invention of the Pickle. At last, the first national Pickle day is celebrated in NYC. This national holiday is still celebrated 17 years later. Technically Pickles even have their own sport known as Pickleball! While not really a sport about Pickles it still has the word Pickle in the name.

About 5,200,000 Pounds of Pickles are consumed in America each year! That's 9 pounds of Pickles per person! The legacy of Pickles will continue to grow. It will outlive me, It will outlive my offspring, and my offspring's offspring. Pickles will live forever.

"The wonderful thing about Pickles are Pickles are wonderful things"- Ian Carter

What happens inside a Fitness Tracker?

By: Luca Canaan Scafidi

Q: How do Fitness Trackers work?

A: It's simple; magic.

Well, not really but it is cool.

Most of the recent models have bluetooth that can connect to your phone so you get the information almost instantly. "Most modern fitness trackers use a three-axis accelerometer as their primary sensor. This advanced piece of technology measures acceleration based upon start of motion, end of motion, and intensity" (<https://wonderopolis.org/wonder/how-do-fitness-trackers-work>).

And this data is put onto either a computer chip or iPhone application which translates the data from computer language to charts, graphs, and other forms of data.

Depending on what model you have they might have other sensors and additional features. Studies show that some recent types of Fitness Trackers actually overestimate weight loss and physical improvement. It can be a lie so don't get sucked in on the information. But most of the models are very helpful and focus more on your health and fitness levels, than steps. Which aren't as important to your overall wellness.

Current News: Net Neutrality

Gordon Chen

According to the Oxford Dictionary, net neutrality is “the principle that Internet service providers should enable access to all content and applications regardless of the source, and without favoring or blocking particular products or websites.” Net neutrality has been a popular topic in the latter half of 2017. In February 2015, the Federal Communications Commission vote established net neutrality for fair internet use. Throttling, the nemesis of net neutrality, happens when internet providers slow down streaming on your favorite website and make you pay a higher fee to make your streaming go back to normal.

On December 14th, 2017, the FCC repealed net neutrality because Ajit Pai, chairman of the FCC, believed that loosening the regulation would help investment and more jobs. This most likely would affect the smaller companies because big companies like Google and Amazon would be able to "comfortably pay high rent."(NY Times) While big companies can pay high rents, that brings the problem to small companies. Without the money to pay for net neutrality these companies would be put in the "Slow Lane".

NEVER TRUST A BANANA IN A SUIT by: Luca Scafidi

If you ever see a banana in a suit run away from it. Why you should run away from is simply because; they are Illuminati major-domos. They can force you join to the illuminati. Which is not a good thing. Sure it may sound good but I hear that you can only wear black once you join them.

But there's another reason why you should run away from a banana in a suit; it's..YOU'RE HALLUCINATING.

If you see a banana with clothes on it means you're vision is impaired. Because let's face it, have you ever seen a banana just walking around on a street, much less wearing a suit? The answer is no.

And there's one last reason why you shouldn't trust a banana wearing a suit. Because not only does it mean that you are seeing things, but it means that the banana is also crazy. Think about it, I mean what's the nerve with that banana? He just thinks he can walk around pretending that he's a big shot, I think not.

Humor: WHY YOU SHOULDN'T LISTEN TO BREAD

By: LUCA SCAFIDI

Bread is an evil thing. You shouldn't listen to it simply because it is evil. Over the past 5,717 years (and running) we have had bread in our daily diet. Think of how many carbohydrates that is. es into our body. THEY'RE EVIL, EVIL I SAY! Eventually, they will take over the world.

Evil Mc. Bready-Pants is among us....and he is coming for YOU!!!

One day I was walking into my kitchen when a piece of bread came flying out of the cabinet. After that, it said that I should eat more carbs. Of course I didn't listen to it, but many people do. Think about what would've happened if I had actually listened to that evil piece of toast. (By the way, his name was Evil Mc. Bready-Pants.) So don't eat tooooooooo much bread. It's Evil.....the return of bread is among us. BEWARE; THE BREAD!
